Cancer in Hens
Mexico's Wise Welcome
The Star That Vanished
Archbishop Not Wanted

ENCOURAGING news for those who are fighting the world problem of cancer, came from the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research today when it was announced that a certain type of cancer, which contains its own healing power, has been discovered in the human body.

When this writer visited the Rockefeller Institute with John D. Rockefeller, Jr., some time ago to see the famous Dr. Carrel perform operations for removal of cancerous tissue in the lung, scientists there said that a certain type of cancer, which contains its own healing power, has been discovered in the human body.

The fight against cancer is now on, and will be victorious.

A YOUNG MEXICAN genius, a young man, has discovered a new method, based on mathematics, for the solution of the problem of the world.

The method is complicated, but it is the Mexican government's policy to welcome to a large colony of young men, who are interested in the study of mathematics.

More important, to the world and to Mexico, is the Mexican government's policy to welcome to a large colony of young men, who are interested in the study of mathematics.

TESTS PLANE

PRISON BLAST PLOT HALTED

Five Junction City Conspirators Transferred to State Penitentiary.

FIND HIDDEN DYNAMITE

Scheme Mapped Out with Aim of Liberating Many Prisoners.

COLUMBUS, O., March 12.—Nipping an alleged plot to dynamite the dormitory of the penitentiary at Junction City, with the attendant possibility of releasing scores of prisoners, was revealed today by the arrival of five conspirators at Ohio penitentiary today under heavy guard.

The conspirators were brought in by Deputy Warden Blosser, superintendent of the penitentiary.

Three sticks of dynamite and a piece of metal partly fashioned into a key were found in possession of the plotters, Blosser said.

List of Accused Men
The men were Elmer L. Irish, serving five to 15 years for assault; Homer Clay, serving five to 20 years for operating a motor vehicle without owner's consent in Franklin county; Oliver J. Poy, three to 20 years for same charge in Summit county; Orville Shaw, three to 20 years, Scioto county; and Aulistine Daniels, five to 20 years, Cuyahoga county.

Acting on a tip, Blosser questioned Clay and Irish Saturday night. He learned the dynamiting was to take place Saturday night. Blosser then placed the other three men in close confinement.

Two of the conspirators led officials to a hole in a clay bank within the plant inclosure.

Find Dynamite Hidden
In a hole, one and one-half feet deep, three sticks of dynamite were found wrapped in paper. The dynamite had been stolen from the plant stores, according to Blosser.

Details related to Blosser indicated the five men planned to place the dynamite at one end of the dormitory, where their cells were, and touch it off Sunday night. No fuses were found.

The population of the plant is 354, scores of whom probably would have escaped if the plot had not been uncovered.

REPORT 200 DROWN AS BOAT GOES DOWN

Chinese Steamer Wrecked by Explosion in Yangtze River.

By The Associated Press
SHANGHAI, March 12.—Two hundred persons were believed drowned when the heavily loaded Chinese passenger steamer Pa Chi blew up and sank in the Yangtze River 70 miles from here last night.

Among the 300 passengers aboard the vessel were a hundred Chinese soldiers who were thought to have thrown their cigarette stubs into the cargo, which was principally cotton.

An explosion followed, spreading fire in the hold. Most of those on the boat jumped over the side, where a rescue cutter was able to pick up a few survivors.

WHITE PREPARES MESSAGE

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., March 12.—Under tentative plans announced today, Governor George White will send his third message to the Ohio general assembly next Monday night. He is now preparing the message, which is expected to deal with the cotton problem.

TRIAL NEARING CLOSE; RALLS TAKES STAND

Case Expected To Go To Jury Late This Afternoon; Defense Rests.

FATHER, UNCLE TESTIFY

Defendant Denies Having Part in Plot To Resist Arresting Officers.

Special to The Star.
BUCYRUS, O., March 12.—Following two defense witnesses to the stand, Blanton Ralls, 19, this morning offered his last fight to escape the death penalty demanded by the state in the fatal shooting of Sheriff George Davenport at Crestline Jan. 23.

Crawford county common pleas courtroom was jammed to its capacity as relatives of Blanton told his life story—a story filled with pitiful, heart-touching details of a neglected, illegitimate child.

The case neared the final phases this afternoon with the state scheduled to offer rebuttal witnesses to the testimony given yesterday afternoon and this morning by the defense. The closing arguments of the attorneys will be given this afternoon and it is probable that the jury will get the case late today.

On Stand All Morning
Blanton was on the stand during practically all of the morning session. Under cross examination he was evasive and countered many of Prosecutor Sears' questions with "I don't know."

"I am very, very sorry about the shooting," Blanton told the jury. "Sheriff Davenport always treated me fine." The youth had been confined to the jail on two previous occasions.

Blanton said he thought the revolver shot, the one fired by Sheriff Davenport, came before the shooting was fired. The state's testimony previously had indicated that the sheriff fired after he had been shot.

He admitted taking part in the theft of the chickens and said that when he learned that the "law" was after them, he attempted to get away. He said he was found by Walter, his first degree murder last night in connection with the shooting, to go away. Blanton said he offered Walter his share of the money from the theft if he would go. He said Walter refused.

Denies Writing Note
Blanton denied writing a note to Walter since the opening of the trial in which he said "I will tell them you did not do it." However, he admitted writing other notes previous to the trial.

He claimed he took the shotgun upstairs because he had always kept it in his room. He said he did not know that the other two men, Walter and Elijah, had planned to resist arrest with the gun, but admitted taking any part in making the plans to resist arrest.

"Elijah handed me the shotgun and said 'here boy, place this under the bed,'" Blanton said. This took place after the shooting. He had retired that night only to be awakened by Elijah who said "the law is coming."

"Supposed To Be Mine"
"He is supposed to be mine," Theron Ralls testified yesterday when asked if he was the father of Blanton. The father admitted contributing nothing toward the defense.

INTRODUCE COMPANY RECORDS AT TRIAL

State's Prosecution Plans Upset by Objections of Defense Counsel.

By United Press
MT. GILEAD, O., March 12.—Technically, this morning held up the progress of the trial of C. Roman, former secretary of the Morrow County Farmers' Mutual Insurance Co. of Cardington, on charges of embezzling $8,000.

Court recessed this morning while defense attorneys examined record books of the company introduced as exhibits by the state. The trial is expected to continue this afternoon.

Testimony of Elmer Bartlett, certified public accountant of Columbus who examined the books of the company last August, was objected to by the defense counsel. They insisted that the ledger of the company be introduced first.

The ledgers were introduced into the record after they were identified by Frank Jackson, manager of the company. The state insisted that the ledger be introduced first.

SUGGEST CHANGE IN TOMB SERVICE DATE

Dedication May Be Held Here June 18 Instead of June 16.

Dedication of Harding memorial by President Hoover may take place Thursday, June 18, instead of June 16, a date agreed on yesterday by Washington authorities and officials of the Harding Memorial association.

This was revealed today by Hoke Donithen, chairman of the Harding Memorial association executive committee, following a telephone call last night from Joseph H. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, president of the association. In the brief conversation Frelinghuysen asked Donithen if June 18 would be as satisfactory as June 16. Donithen stated that it would. No explanation for the call was given by Frelinghuysen.

To Set Date Today
Donithen is expecting another call from Frelinghuysen today to inform him which of the two dates has been definitely selected.

No reason for changing the date agreed on yesterday could be learned this morning, unless the latter date better suits the President's pleasure.

The President's willingness to review and attend the 1931 state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic and auxiliary organizations in Columbus June 16, 17 and 18 today appeared to be one of the factors that led to the selection of the June date for the dedication. This was learned in a telephone conversation with Joseph E. Cross, manager of the convention committee of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce this morning.

Several weeks ago, the convention committee made a request to the President to attend the dedication.

HOOVER DAM WORK STARTS

Actual Operations on Giant Engineering Project Under Way.

SEEK TO TAME WILD RIVER
Dam Expected To Rescue Rich Territory from Flood Menace.

By The Associated Press
LAS VEGAS, Nevada, March 12.—The taming of the mighty Colorado river got under way today.

Actual work started on Hoover dam, a monumental engineering effort, fittingly placed in a wild section that has been a land of romance since the sixteenth century.

The turbulent stream, which draws its volume from seven states before emptying into the Gulf of California, has been the object of study by government engineers for more than 40 years.

When Secretary Wilbur of the interior department yesterday accepted the bid of the Six Companies, Inc., of San Francisco for construction of the dam for slightly less than $50,000,000, officials in charge announced work would start immediately.

Start Laid Line Work
Skeleton crews were called on the job to clear a right-of-way for a rail line that will carry supplies to the dam site.

Four hundred years ago, gold-seeking Spanish explorers entered the southwest.

Later Mormons came down the Colorado, found rich mineral deposits and established colonies.

NEW EVIDENCE

Defense of Kirkland Investigates Latest Angle in Draves' Murder.

By The Associated Press
VALPARAISO, Ind., March 12.—A story that Arlene Draves, 18, died from wounds resulting from being struck over the head with a milk bottle in the hands of a jealous girl friend, and not from bruises inflicted by the convicted Virgil Kirkland, engaged the attention of his counsel today.

Framing their plea for a new trial, to be presented to Judge Grant Grunmacker Monday, defense Attorney Barratt O'Hara said he was seeking the witnesses who were responsible for this new evidence, to present at a new trial.

Kirkland, who is to be sentenced to life imprisonment Monday, following his conviction Tuesday night for the death of the girl at the drinking party at the Gary home of David Thompson, was scheduled to be taken to the state prison at Michigan City soon after the pronouncement.

TWO OTHERS IN HOSPITAL
Police Hold Man on Intoxication Charge; Woman Arrested.

One man is in critical condition and three other men and two women are suffering from cuts and bruises following a crash last night when a Studebaker touring car crashed into a northbound C. & O. railroad locomotive at the Center street crossing shortly after midnight this morning.

The accident is the second within two weeks where an automobile driven by a woman has crashed into a moving C. & O. locomotive. On Feb. 23 Leahla Hader of Pleasant Acres drove a Chevrolet sedan into a locomotive at the Columbus street crossing.

Driver Hurt
The Studebaker in the crash last night was driven by Mrs. Leola DeWees, 24, of Garden City pike. Although suffering from cuts and bruises, her condition is not serious.

James Darnell of 1021 West Center street is in critical condition at City hospital with a scalp wound, possibly a fractured skull, a broken hip, bruised back and numerous cuts and bruises.

Others in the automobile at the time of the accident were Florence McCarty, 22, of Garden City pike, LeRoy Thrush of Kenton avenue and Perry Sharp, whose address was not learned. Mrs. DeWees was placed under arrest at City hospital and left there to recover from her injuries. She was booked on investigation. No charge had been filed against her this morning.

Wreckage of the automobile was towed to the McDaniel Motor Co.

SENATE STRIKES AT J. P. COURTS IN OHIO

Legislators Display Changing Disposition Toward Dry Enforcement Laws.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., March 12.—The Ohio senate seems to exhibit a mixed disposition toward prohibition legislation.

In a bang, bang fashion it voted yesterday to strike from present enforcement laws provisions under which justices of the peace and constables are given county-wide jurisdiction in prohibition law violations and courts are prohibited from placing violators of the prohibition law on probation.

Turning about face, some of the senators who had voted to upstake the enforcement provisions, voted in the health committee last night against ruling the prohibition limit for medical liquor to one pint every ten days, to conform with the federal limitation. The present Ohio law limits prescriptions to half a pint.

The three prohibition enforcement laws voted out of the committee were provisions by which the Anti-Saloon league several years ago had secured enactment of laws to have county justices place violators of the prohibition law on probation.

GOITRE NOT A DISEASE

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery

MILWAUKEE, Wis. - It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. A-3, Box 737, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. # KIWANIS PLAN MAY 28 MEET

District Head Plans To Have State and International Officers Here.

One of the largest district Kiwanis meetings ever staged in Marion are rapidly nearing completion. The meeting will bring representatives of 13 clubs in the district to Marion May 28. Arrangements for 300 persons have been made. The meeting will feature an unusually long list of dignitaries, and possibly international officers of the organization.

The banquet in The Star auditorium will set the meeting under way. Although the gathering is completely in charge of Lieutenant-Governor Harding of Bellevue, the Marion club will be in charge of the entertainment features.

One past state president and a corps of present state officers of the organization have definitely agreed to be present. An effort is being made to attract several international officials to Marion for the occasion.

One of the features of the meeting will be the award of the treasure chest trophy, by Lieutenant-Governor Harding. The treasure chest trophy is the second week in May when Gallon Kiwanians bring the chest to Marion. The trophy goes to the club best represented at a meeting with a neighboring club.

When one quits hoping for the best, he usually quits hoping at all.

No Fire at Home; Court Gives Fireman Divorce

By International News Service.

DETROIT—The life of a fireman isn't all fires.

So charged Herman Gork, a Detroit "smoke-eater," when he filed a cross bill to his wife's divorce suit.

Gork alleged that when he returned home after fighting fires and sitting in a warm station house during his working hours, there was no fire in his home.

The fireman also charged that he had to cook his own meals, wash the dishes and mend his own clothes while his wife "sits in a rocker and rocks."

The wife, in her complaint, alleged that Gork had consorted with other women.

The suits brought an end to six years of married life.

PROFESSOR SEES SOCIETY MENACE

By International News Service.

CHICAGO — "It won't be long now," Professor W. S. Byron assured his sociology class at Northwestern university, Chicago. And the learned gentleman was not forecasting the length of woman's dress for spring. He was discussing upon the next plague that he believes will strike these hospitable shores. It is nothing less than "gigolism."

The professional gallant and dancing partner in an accepted European institution. Foreign governments have even recognized the gigolo as a member of a profession and subjected his fees to income tax. He is a familiar figure at all the European resorts where wealthy women seek succor from the growlings of business-maddened husbands, where the faded orchids of society who have lost the bloom of youth and are satiated with all their own circles have to offer seek new thrills that will for a moment dispel their blasé lethargy.

THE successful gigolo is invariably a handsome, sleek specimen of the genus homo. He is a nearby a gentleman as a tailor can make him, with a studiously copied Chesterfieldian manner. Always there is an unctuous piece of flattery on the end of his facile tongue ready to be unloaded into the eager ear of a "likely prospect." And this gift of flattery brings him more profit than his invariably fruitless dancing.

On the European Riviera it is not an unusual sight to see one of these perfumed, professional exquisites in company with women of families closely akin to royalty. But American women are by far the best and "easiest" customers. The gigolo who possesses a colorful imagination and many of them do has only to hint at a noble but impoverished family background, and out comes the pocketbook, and into the "nobleman's" pocket goes a flock of hard-earned American dollars.

TO return to Professor Byron and his thesis. The study of such an abstruse subject as sociology may be responsible for that erudite gentleman's ignorance of other national matters, but the fact remains that gigolism had crept into our country long before the professor ever heard of it. As far back as 1923 the gigolo was known in these United States. In that year the famous Carman Schoellkopf case crashed every front page in the country.

Barry Carman had the face of a god and the polished manners of a royal duke. He saw while still in his teens that he could capitalize these advantages and he set about doing it. How well he succeeded may be gathered from the fact that in 12 years he "earned" $500,000 as dancing partner and paid escort to wealthy women. He attained no worldly prominence in 1923 when Mrs. Schoellkopf, wife of a wealthy Buffalo, N. Y., brewer whom Carman had taken to a party was robbed of $518,000 worth of jewels.

LATER the wealthy brewer divorced his spouse and settled $30,000 a year on her for life. She disappeared after the divorce and finally turned up in Honolulu, married to Carman. She gave him $100,000 as a wedding gift and three months later divorced him in Chicago because he beat her for refusing him more.

20 MALE PHEASANTS ARE RELEASED HERE

Neimeyer Turns Birds Loose To Replace Ones Shot by Hunters.

Twenty male pheasants were released in various parts of Marion county yesterday by O. H. Neimeyer, deputy state game protector, of Prospect. They are being released to replace the birds shot last year. Ten pheasants are plentiful in the county, according to Neimeyer.

All birds are banded around the leg with small pieces of marked metal. Hunters or others killing the birds or in any way capturing them are requested to turn these bands over to officials who are attempting to learn where these birds locate after they are released here.

A number of the bands are now in possession of hunters, according to Protector Neimeyer. These hunters are requested to send the bands to him for identification. They will be returned to the hunters after they have been listed he said.

The birds released in the county yesterday came from Wellington, Ohio.

Fishermen Fight for Use of Posted Ponds

By International News Service.

WINSTED, Conn.—Whether citizens have the right to fish in a pond whose shores are posted by a private corporation is to be tested in Connecticut courts by three Thomaston residents who were arrested for fishing through the ice after the state fish and game commissioner told them they had a right so to fish.

Sportmen throughout the state are contributing to the defense fund for the men who will be tried here some time this winter. Pinehurst Lakes corporation, owners of the land about the pond in question, caused the arrests. If the citizens win, sportmen will attempt to open every posted pond in the entire state.

"Ghost Walkers" Peddle Liquor Across Border

By International News Service. DETROIT—Federal immigration officers at the international border here are faced with a new problem of "ghost walkers." The title name is a term used for liquor and alien smugglers when they attempt to cross the ice of the St. Clair river from Canada to the United States wearing a white sheet over their clothing.

The white mantle, it was explained, makes it difficult for the officers to spy fugitives as they crawl across the ice bound river.

Follow Meager Clues in Hunt for Girl's Slayer

Associated Press.—SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 12.—A plaster cast of a tire track and two strands of black hair were the chief clues from which officers sought today to identify the fiend who killed and mutilated 10-year-old Virginia Brooks.

The car tire cast was made from an imprint on Camp Kearney mesa, 15 miles north of here, where the school girl's decapitated body was found in a sack Tuesday. One of the hair strands was caught under a thumb nail and the other on the girl's left hand.

Sheriff's officers said they sought a man with the appearance of a woman, seen with a girl resembling Virginia shortly after she disappeared on her way to school here Feb. 11.

Cooperative Livestock Shippers Hold Meeting

Farmers of County Sell 2,000,000 Pounds of Produce Worth $150,000 on Co-Op Plan in 1930. Speaker from O. W. U. Tells Audience; Organization Names Directors.

Although Marion county sold 2,000,000 pounds of livestock cooperatively in 1930 for $150,000, there is still much room for the development of cooperative livestock marketing in the county. W. B. Stout, of the rural economics department of Ohio State university told more than 100 Marion county livestock men yesterday.

His talk was part of the all-day program which included an address and a grading demonstration by A. F. Potter of Cleveland, manager of the Producers' Cooperative Commission association. The meeting for livestock men was purely educational.

Potter's grading demonstration in the morning session was held at the stockyards of the Marion County Livestock Cooperative Commission association. The aim of this demonstration is to inform farmers what packers want, and to tell them what makes an animal good and why certain animals are worth more on the market.

The demonstration included the grading of hogs, cattle, sheep and calves. Potter graded various animals in the presence of nearly 100 men, explaining and pointing out good and bad features as the packers would see them. He also answered dozens of questions. He was assisted by L. D. Kingsbury of the Ohio Livestock Cooperative association.

Three of the seven directors of the county association were re-elected at a meeting in Schwinger hall yesterday afternoon. They are Ray Gatewood, Lowell Ullah, and H. H. Everinger. New directors are Harry Bertr, Robert Elsie, Ray Bush and Forest Hipscher.

In his talk in the afternoon session in Schwinger's hall, Potter delved into the operation of the national cooperative livestock setup. More than $200,000,000 worth of livestock was handled cooperatively last year, he said. Cleveland is one of 22 member units of the national organization.

Use Radio
The Cleveland association is endeavoring to keep its member branches in the northern section of the state well informed regarding its activities, Potter said. He told of the daily radio broadcasts and other means used to keep farmers posted.

National, state and local livestock marketing trends were discussed by Stout in his talk during the afternoon meeting. He compared the distributing system now used with that in vogue 10 years ago. Operation of national, state and local units was explained in detail.

The use of trucks, radio and good roads has given the farmer a more diversified and more flexible market for his livestock, Stout said. He told of the ever increasing popularity of the truck for transporting livestock to the terminal markets.

In his annual report covering 1930 activities, Jerald Miller, manager of the Marion county Cooperative Commission association, told of the recent appointment of Floyd Unclapher, manager of the Green Camp elevator, as sub-manager in the county.

TO THE TUNE OF "JOHNNY BULL"

Sailors of the British ship "Nelson," entertaining visitors (arrow) from the American fleet at Panama, with an old-fashioned sailor's hornpipe. While the Yankee gobs enjoyed the show it's hardly likely they will advocate the adoption of the British sailors' dance for the American navy.

Traveler Writes of Early Days

"THE Aristocratic Journey" tells of Mrs. Basil Hall, a British blue-blood who made a trip to America with her husband and little daughter in 1827. In a series of letters, she wrote about the people she met and the things she did in America. These letters, which have just come to light, betray the keen and alert observations of a socially-inclined person. A caustic critic of manners and customs in the young republic, she is probably more detailed and accurate than any other traveller of her day. Armed with hundreds of notes of introduction to well-known American Mrs. Hall and her husband were entertained in almost as many homes. Their travels included visits to New York, Albany, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and other cities. It is a new publication of Putnam's.

Story Is Counterpart of "All Quiet"

A FORMER German sailor, Theodore Plyler, describes the harrowing experiences of his country's navy in "The Kaiser's Colliers," a story supposed to be the navy's counterpart of Erich Remarque's "All Quiet."

The story is a bitter picture of the common sailors' brutal life through the four years of war. A group of sailors were shanghaied for the German navy by the Hamburg police. They were like galley slaves, hungry and oppressed until they turned in mutiny on their officers and finally hoisted the red flag of revolution.

Scenes of horror are depicted. Men unable to open a bolted door are drowned, others are killed by heat in gun turrets and a delirious shipwrecked sailor makes love to a floating mine until his caressing hands touch the detonator.

"Pigboats' Is Tale of Submarine Sailors

A "Pigboats" which has to do with a disgraced American commander shipping as a petty officer to get revenge on the U-boat captain who brought about his ruin and finally emerging as a naval hero. The story carries out tense scenes of attack and the feeling of terror among cramped, cold men trapped underseas by a pursuing enemy dropping deadly bombs.

Westward Travel Told in Story

THE great wagons lay like tilted ships at anchor, their white tilts jutting up against the sky and around them moved the yoked oxen, the mules and horses, quivering under clouds of flies. Men and women passed and came, with their boxes and bundles, their children and crying babies, driving their cows and little herds of goats, melting and chattering and hurrying or sitting listlessly waiting for they knew not what. The ends of the earth seemed to have met here; farmers and their families from Maine or Massachusetts; Ohio or Illinois; or broken-down gentry of the South, men of the cities making one wild venture. Irish and Germans and Swedes; hunters and trappers from the mountains; French voyagers and fur-traders; dark Spanish-speaking men from the Southwest; half-breeds in old American clothes; guides in fringed buckskins with the old-fashioned rifles or muskets and powder-horns; full-blooded Kansas Indians, disappointing no romantic, dark and filthy as gypsies, huddled in blankets watching and chattering. This intriguing description is from "The Uncertain Traveller" by John Fisher. Morrow's are the publishers.

Writes Biography of Robert Burns

ROBERT BURNS has an assured fame in English poetry and a very special place in human legend. But the thousands who visit his shrine have only a vague notion of his life; they know that he was a ploughman and a great lover, that his life was triumphant and tragic and as his first biographer lamented, "not very correct," they know that he died under a cloud and that ever since he has been celebrated and condemned. His biography, "The Life of Robert Burns," by Catherine Carswell, is a full, clear story of his troubled and

Will Rogers intimates that he is but thirty-

 the fatal gift of facial pulchritude have been
 inclined to scale down their ages a bit, especially those of the stage and screen.

 dollar each. "There ought to be a law."

Flying across the country, this week, Captain Ira Baker, covered 236 miles in an hour

 slow that any one is in position to sneer at
 it.

The railroads of the United States expended $275,813,781 for fuel in 1930 compared with $325,813,805 the preceding year, making a new record. Of course, efficiency was in part responsible, but not wholly. A lesser demand
 for rail transportation had its effect.

Charlie Chaplin is being greeted by enormous crowds in Berlin. There's no advantage
 in which Charlie's offerings have a big advantage over the talkies. The language he speaks
 from the screen is understood in all lands, no matter what their tongues may be.

Nobody can blame Mayor Walker, of New York, for seeking a rest in Palm Springs, California. To have official rottenness in a city
 he held out as 90.44 per cent. pure brought to his attention, as it has been in his case, is enough to give any executive a nervous shock.

The London Times is scolding the United States, "with all her wealth," for not loaning
 more money abroad. Even the Times should be willing to admit that repeated stings have
 the effect of curbing enthusiasm for foreign loans. "A blunt child needs the fire."

To meet the fuel shortage in Moscow, where
 wood is bringing $31.80 a cord, the government has issued a regulation prohibiting the maintaining of a temperature higher than fifty-three degrees Fahrenheit in hotel rooms
 and other public places. We have about decided to postpone our contemplated tour of Russia till warm weather sets in.

Man—Victim of His Own Civilization.

"Man in a sense is the victim of his own civilization," Dr. George W. Crile declared in an address before the Southern Surgical and Congress assembled in Atlanta, Georgia, this week, explaining his declaration by pointing out that the great thinkers and leaders of modern civilization are more subject to diseases of the body than are other classes.

Summarizing the evolution of man's physical
 make-up, the renowned Cleveland surgeon,
 who is one of the greatest living medical authorities as well, stressed the truth that the superiority of man over the lower orders is
 due to his development of the higher organ,
 the frontal lobe of the brain, and to this alone.

Citing the fact that animals are far superior to man in sight, strength, fleetness and in many other physical respects; that in the brain alone is man superior, and that in man's
 development of the frontal lobe of his brain
 lies the secret of his domination over lower orders, Dr. Crile held that this development of man has driven him to incessant activity.

"It is therefore true," continued the doctor,
 "that our leaders and our greatest thinkers,
 because their lower organs are driven to more
 activity by the highly-developed higher organ,
 are more subject to high blood pressure, golfer
 and other ailments. This driving force may
 and often does wear out the entire physical mechanism."

The doctor, however, was not content to point out the ills to which leaders in the world's activities and our greatest thinkers are especially subject without offering a remedy,
 or possibly it would be better to say a preventive. His advice was that they slow down;
 that they cut off some of the driving power
 of this highest organ which makes demands
 on the activities of their lower organs beyond
 the limits of the abilities of such lower organs
 to make maintained response. If our great leaders and great thinkers would run man's allotted time they must not permit their mental activities to incite their lower organs to activities beyond the limit of their endurance.
 There must be rest, there must be relaxation,
 there must be periods for recuperation if
 man's organs are to function normally for the preservation of health.

Politics is a Great Game.

Closely following the announcement of Howard L. Bevis, state finance director, that the operation and upkeep of its passenger
 cars, trucks and tractors cost the state about $1,500,000 last year and that in addition thereto
 the state expended $721,905 for motor vehicles,
 the most of them used by the highway department, State Senator David Lorback, of Cincinnati, has called for a senate inquiry
 into the operations of that department.

Director Bevis reports that of the approximate sum of $1,500,000 expended, $887,918 went
 for gasoline; $417,882 for automobile parts,
 mostly tires; $192,378 for oil, and $206,927 for
 parts and repair bills.

Naturally the business of the state highway department calls for the use of many
 automobiles, trucks and tractors and the operation and upkeep of them is just as naturally bound to be high. We have no way of knowing whether an expenditure of $1,500,000 for the purpose is reasonable or abnormal. Admittedly, it looks high, but it may be not unreasonable in view of the traveling and transportation demands of the department. But we question if much will be accomplished by
 an inquiry, should one be instituted.

We believe that it is considered good
 politics for the appointees of a new administration and of others in office aligned with it
 to question and criticize the acts of the preceding administration when the latter administration was of the opposite politics. Whether it is good politics or bad it is not for us to say, but under the conditions stated, there generally is more or less criticism. The weakness of such criticism, whether it is just or otherwise, is that there is a general inclination to attribute it to political prejudice working for partisan advantage. And there is another weakness. The latter arises from the fact that experience has taught the public that
 those of the incoming administration who criticize what they term the extravagance of the preceding administration of opposite political faith are liable before the end of their
 term to fall into the same or greater expenditures than those they criticize.

The tricks in the game of politics, whether
 it be national, state or municipal, are seemingly without limit.

The United States circuit court of appeals
 out in San Francisco has ruled that the political candidate cut in Portland, Oregon, who swore while broadcasting, must serve six months' imprisonment and pay a fine of $500.
 Candidates who simply must use profanity in
 speaking should do it in some theatrical offering or in the talkies.

Governor Roosevelt, of New York, has launched an official probe of charges of in-
 competence and malfeasance against District Attorney Thomas G. T. Crain, of New York
 City. If the governor doesn't exercise caution
 he's liable to find himself persona non grata
 with Tammany.

Impulsive Marriages.

The lower house of the legislature, after making merry and totally uncalculated for
 the matter, has passed a bill requiring applicants for marriage licenses to wait five days before licenses are issued. The purpose,
 obviously, is to discourage hasty marriages.

What disposition of the bill the senate will make can not be foreseen, but that body may
 well refrain from assuming a facetious attitude, as the house did. The landoffice business being carried on by divorce lawyers in those states which have eased their marriage laws
 to capture the lucrative divorce trade is evidence enough that too many people regard marriage as a joke now. Ohio's legislators
 are not obligated to increase the number.

A five-day interim between application for
 a license and its issuance could not, possibly,
 do any harm and, in a great many cases, it might do some good. While it can not be denied that a great many successful marriages
 are made on impulse, it also is true that many unsuccessful marriages might be averted were
 those contemplating marriage forced to wait
 five days after applying for a license.

Ohio might well establish such a provision at this time when several other states are engaged in unseemly rivalry to attract the divorce trade by weakening their laws. Careful, thoughtful marriage can stand a few
 champions.

Tuesday's selection for head of the Peruvian
 provisional government was David Samanes Ocampo, the fifth in as many weeks, but there isn't any telling who will occupy the presidential residence in Lima tomorrow. Variety is said to be the spice of life, but in the matter
 of chief executives Peru seems to be getting
 an oversupply of spice.

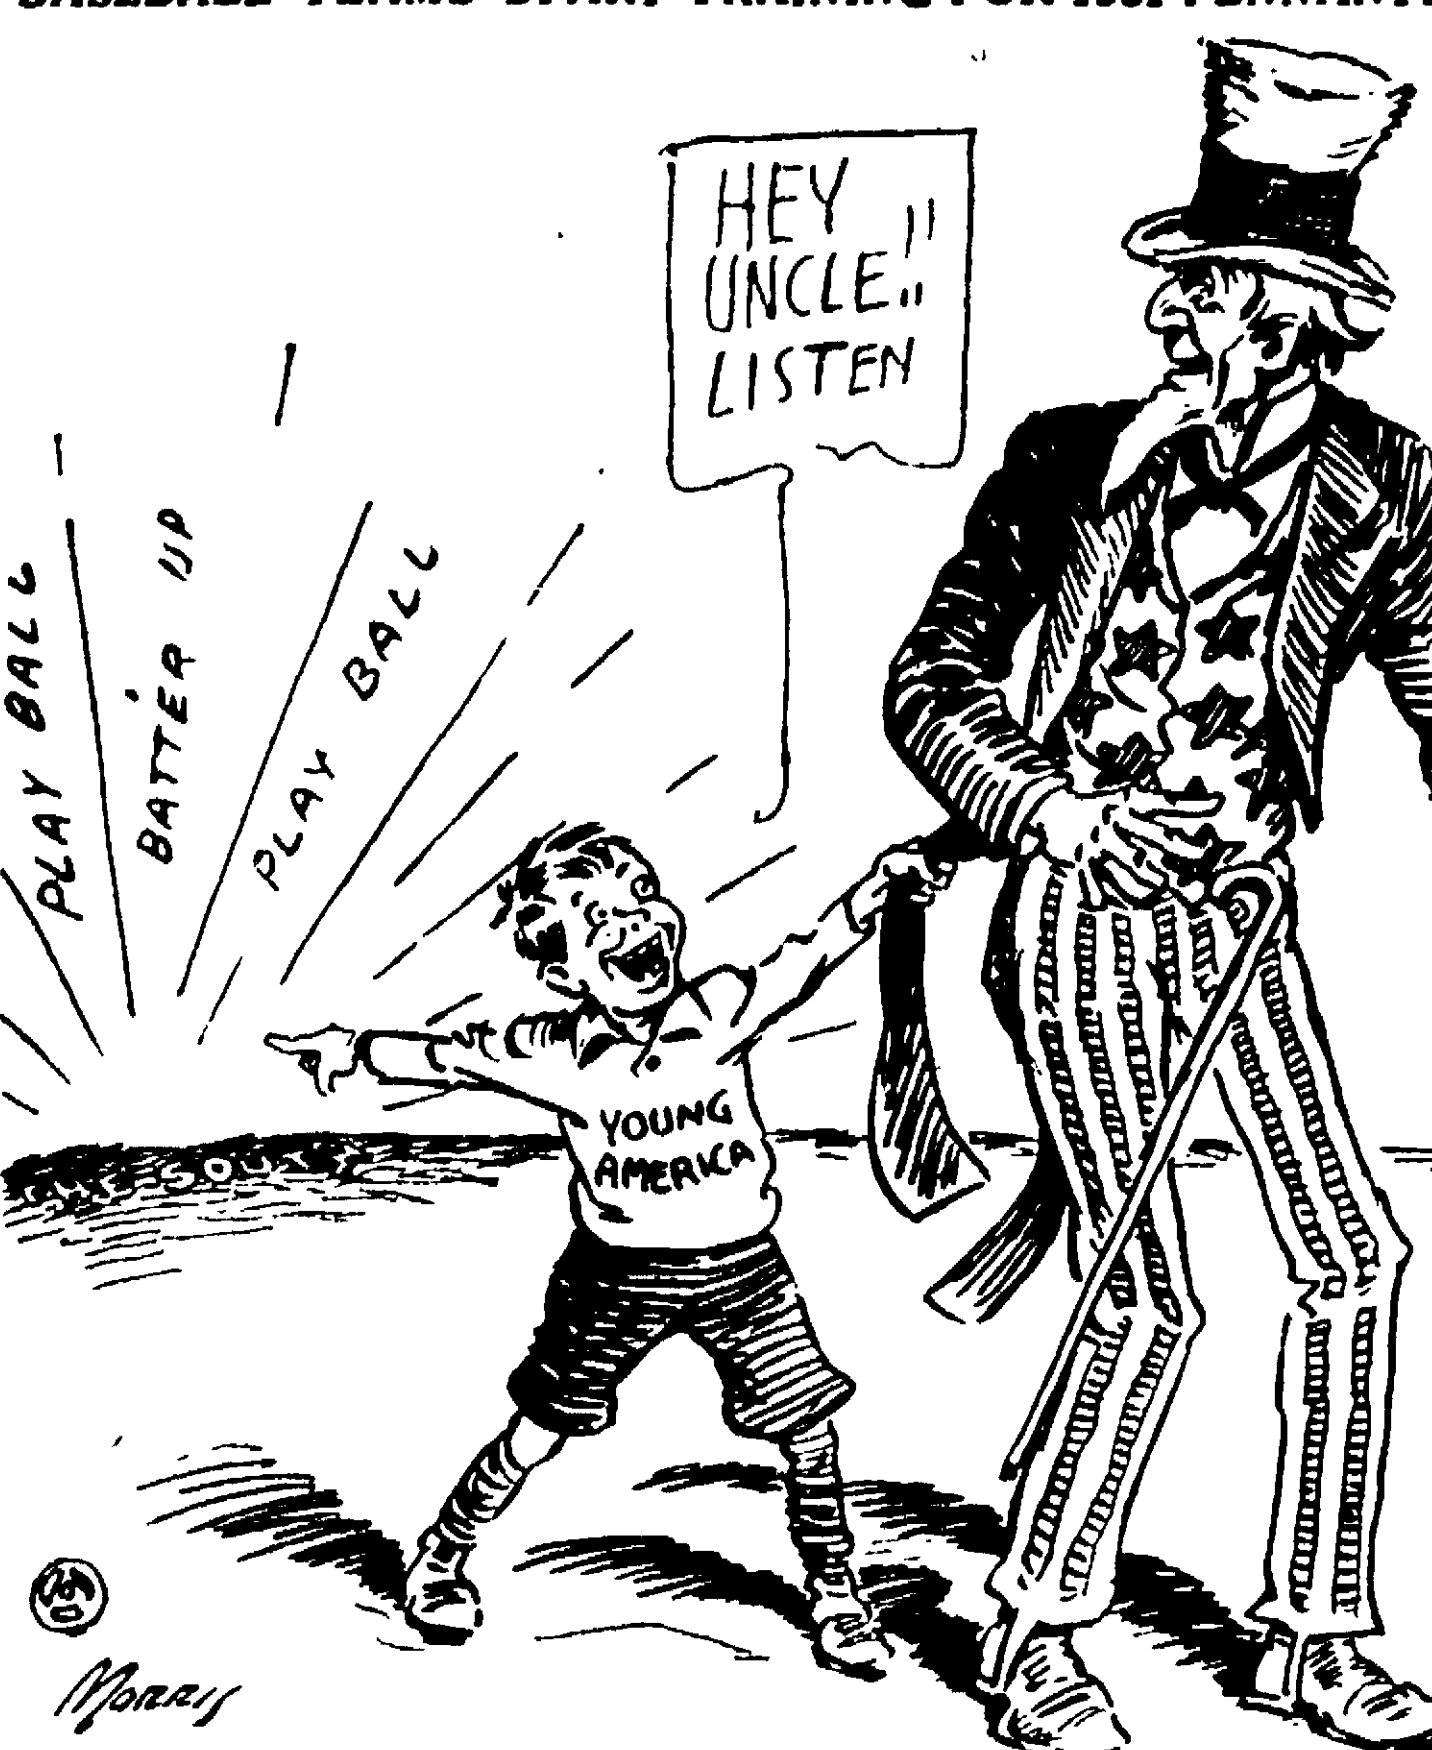

The marked decrease in the 1930 record of crimes committed in Detroit by aliens from
 the record of such crimes in 1929 is explained
 by that city's police department by the fact that more than 1,000 undesirable aliens were apprehended there during 1929 and deported
 against 250 the following year. It is crime prevention which might well be applied in every
 city in the land.

New York City's new jail for women is said to answer all the demands of the "new-
 style penology," which some refer to as "prison coddling" by offering "all the comforts of home." There is always a risk in making penal institutions overly attractive, especially when
 many of its occupants probably will prove to be those who never had any comforts in their homes.

The "former" Canadian run runner, Shan-
 liam, with the British flag flying from the short mast at its prow sailed into New York
 harbor, Tuesday, and sailed away unmolested
 by the coast guard after its crew had delivered
 two badly-injured men at a hospital. The code
 of the sea held good.

A survey made by the Home Missionary Council of North America shows that there are 10,000 villages in America without churches of any kind, 30,000 villages without
 resident pastors of any faith, and 13,400,000
 children under twelve years of age who are receiving no religious instruction. With a condition such as this in the home field, it might be the part of wisdom to call back the missionaries from the foreign.

Editorial Opinion.

THE THUG LAWYER.

Captain Edward Dennison, superintendent
 of the Detroit House of Correction, uttered
 what every person familiar with conditions in American criminal courts knows is true when he asserted that one of the worst barriers to obtaining justice is the practice of attorneys
 "who know the client is guilty and yet resort
 to every technicality at their disposal to win
 his freedom."

The thug attorney Captain Dennison describes as much an evil in the United States
 as the bandit. Indeed, but for the protective service performed by him for the common outlawry would suffer considerably. And why he is allowed to run riot and practice without
 hindrance or punishment is one of the mysteries of the day.

The thug attorney who defends a gangster
 knowing he is guilty, and who does so for the purpose of defeating the law, is a forsworn houseguest. When he was admitted to the bar, he took oath to uphold the statutes and see that justice is done. He assumed a responsibility as an officer of the court. In practice he tries continually to break down
 the law and thwart justice. Instead of assisting the court to protect society, he tries
 in every way to stop it from doing so.

The thug lawyer is an accessory after the fact in connection with whatever crime his client has committed, whether the offense be
 theft, burglary, kidnapping, rape or murder.
 He is guilty of conspiracy with that client
 against the peace and safety of society. As a procurer lives by exploiting vice, so the thug lawyer lives by helping crime, and we
 at not sure that he is not lower than the procurer. Certainly he is a person who should be prosecuted and put behind the bars.

In some instances his hands are so stained
 with blood that he deserves the most extreme
 penalty on the statute books.

Yet it is very seldom that any attempt is made to curb the activities of the thug lawyer,
 even by debarment, let alone placing a criminal charge against him. He is more likely to receive compliments on his cunning from fellow attorneys, and he is hailed as a hero in a society of a sort.—Detroit Free Press.

SENATOR GILLET'S RETIREMENT.

Senator Gillett's retirement sets a record for continuous service. Thirty-eight years in both houses of Congress, he has been surpassed
 by William B. Allison's thirty-five years in the senate or Joseph G. Cannon's forty-four in the house, which were interrupted by two defeats.

Mr. Gillett was the first speaker after the Republicans returned to power in 1919, retaining the honor until 1925, when he entered the senate. Besides him only half a dozen of the forty-two speakers have presided through three Congresses. Champ Clark's term of eight years
 setting the high mark.

Although the former Gillett seat was held by a Democrat in the congress which has just expired, a Republican will return to it in December. This is also the Coolidge district,
 and party defections there are rare. In fact,
 western Massachusetts is noted for regularity,
 for the high caliber of its statesmen and for their long tenure. Congressman Treadway, Mr.
 Gillett's neighbor from the Berkshire Hills, was first elected in 1912 despite the Democratic upheaval of that year, and he is still in harness.

His predecessor, George P. Lawrence, was elected for eight consecutive terms. Incidentally in this district was born the late Francis E. Warren, whose thirty-five continuous years as Wyoming senator might have broken all records but for his death in 1929.
 Lawrence and Gillett, like Calvin Coolidge,
 were men who retired voluntarily without testing Congress. With Treadway they compose
 a notable quartette of Amherst alumni.

In the well-earned leisure that has now come to Mr. Gillett he expects to write a biography of Senator Hoar and his own memoirs. There is every desire on the part of those who know him that he will complete the task for which he is so eminently equipped.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

IT WAS MUSICAL ANYWAY.

In musical talent, not in talent for sound
 legislation, the seventy-first congress ranked high. There were two violinists in the senate
 - Herbert of Rhode Island, and Walcott, of Connecticut. But these senators were never called upon to play, and it was the house
 whose musical ability was brought into full expression.

When the house adjourned, there was a
 lusty round of singing, led by Representatives
 Clarke, of New York, and Woodrum, of Virginia. "America," "Way Down in the Swanee River" and "Old Folks at Home" were sung. Representative Connery, of Massachusetts, sang "Madelon." In response to a call for "one of the most gifted musicians," Speaker Longworth stepped down from the dais to a piano and played "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," while the Virginian-Woodrum
 sang it, and the house joined in the chorus.

Speaker Longworth plays the violin as well as he plays the piano. And while there is nothing to indicate that the other members
 of the house play any musical instrument,
 they seem to be accomplished, or at least
 ready, vocalists. Indeed, the musical accomplishments of congress almost outweigh its practical accomplishments.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Guard Against "Ringworm."

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Various names have been substituted for the old-fashioned word, "ringworm." Most of them mean nothing, even to the doctor, but all are applied to the one condition. Among these are, "athlete's foot" and "doble itch." "Der-
 matophytosis" is another big word for ring-
 worm.

Ringworm used to be quite prevalent in the southern part of the United States. This was because of the habit some of the population
 had of walking without shoes.

The disease is caused by a parasite called the "trichophyton fungus." This parasite is found in grass, shrubs and at times even in doors. The ailment is frequently transmitted to man by domestic animals, particularly by dogs and cats.

The disease begins as one or two rounded
 red patches of the skin. They may be located on the face, neck, arms, body or feet. Within a few days these patches assume a circular
 shape, with small pimples along the outer border of the circle. These patches are easily recognized because of their ring-like shape.

After the disease has continued for some time, healing begins in the center of the patch.
 The healing process extends to the edges.
 Though there is rarely any itching or pain,
 the eruption spreads rapidly. Sometimes it involves the thighs, groins and other parts of the body.

The disease may be spread in the locker and
 dressing-rooms of gymnasiums, in swimming pools and beaches and often by walking on the floors of private homes. In order to safeguard against this ailment, I advise that you always wear some kind of foot covering. Do not walk about with unprotected feet.

Since the condition is caused by a parasite
 or germ, the treatment consists in using antiseptic and iodine which are capable of killing
 the infecting agent without damage to the skin.
 Your doctor will tell you about the local treatment, but very likely he will prescribe something containing ammoniated mercury.

Ringworm is a particularly embarrassing condition when it attacks the hairy scalp. In such cases the x-ray and other radical methods of
 cure have been applied with more or less success.

Whenever one member of the family is afflicted it is extremely important to protect the others against infection. It is readily passed from one to another.

An extremely disagreeable form of the disease is ringworm of the finger nail. It is stubborn and strongly resists treatment.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES
 "A READER." Q—What causes nose bleeds?
 A—This is usually due to some growth in the nose, ulcer or high blood pressure. It would be wise to have an examination.

A. V. Q—How can I get rid of blackheads?
 A—First correct the diet, by cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee. Eat simple food.
 Avoid constipation.

C. C. Q—What causes severe pains in the
 sciatic nerve?
 A—Sciatica is caused by some sort of infection present in the system. For further information send a self-addressed, stamped envelope
 and repeat your question.

E. W. K. Q—What causes cracking joints?
 A—This is usually due to lack of synovial
 fluid. Massage the parts with warm cod liver oil before retiring. This will probably help
 you.

Crookes, a Neglected Genius.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

In the history of radio-activity and the discovery of radioactive substances, so much attention has been devoted to such figures as Becquerel, the Curies and Sir J. J.
 Thomson, that the work of other very important investigators has been somewhat obscured. Among these investigators is Sir William Crookes, the inventor of the Crookes tube,
 which was primarily instrumental in affording us much of the knowledge we now have
 of radio-activity.

This somewhat neglected scientist was a close observer, and one who, by insight and
 patient reflection, was able to interpret the significance of phenomena which just happened to come under his observation in the course of seeking something else. One of his memorable sayings is: "Residual phenomena
 are hints which may lead the man of disciplined mind and of finished manipulative
 skill to the discovery of new elements, of new laws, possibly of even new forces" upon un-drilled men these possibilities are simply thrown away. The untrained physicist or chemist fails to catch these suggestive
 glimpses. If they appear under his hands, he ignores them, as the miners of old did the
 ores of cobalt and nickel."

William Crookes, born in London, England,
 on June 17, 1832, lived to the advanced age of eighty-six, dying on April 4, 1919. His first important studies were made at the Royal College of Chemistry, where he became the assistant of Hofmann. Later he became superintendent of the meteorological department of the Radcliffe observatory at Oxford. Although he was interested in many branches of science, chemistry was the natural field for the display of his genius. It was a stroke of fortune which called him to the post of lecturer on chemistry at the Science college, Chester.

Crookes has the honor of having discovered
 a new element, thallium. From the residual phenomena associated with this research, he discovered the highly-useful sodium amalgam
 process for separating gold and silver
 from their ores.

Crookes is the inventor of the radiometer.
 Next his attention, as the result of former researches, was called to the phenomena of electric discharges through high vacua. He followed up the curious phenomenon, the fact that there remained in the spectrum of sul-
 phuric acid a bright green not previously observed.

The invention of the Crookes tube, having a vacuum twenty times greater than that of any
 hitherto invented, had a wonderful influence
 upon the entire future development of the study of radio-activity.

Crookes made many inventions and discoveries, and for many years edited scientific journals of influence and importance. Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

Great Political Excitement.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

More than fifty years ago the country was calmed down after the most exciting political
 contest growing out of a presidential campaign
 that it ever experienced. Columbus was the home of one of the contestants—the one who was finally declared the winner—and it was the center of that excitement. It affected the announcement of the decision of the electoral commission in finding that Governor R. B.
 Hayes had a majority of the legally-chosen
 electoral votes.

Hayes seemed to have 153 votes, and Samuel
 J. Tilden 147, but there were contests regarding the legality of the elections in a number of states—Oregon, Louisiana and South Carolina. If a single vote were secured for Tilden
 in any of these states, he would be the winner.
 The situation in the contested states was bad,
 especially in Florida, Louisiana and Oregon.
 Partisan feeling ran strong, and but for the cool Anglo-Saxon feeling that controlled, the nation would probably have been involved
 again in civil war.

Fortunately the wiser counsels prevailed,
 and a new law for the situation was enacted
 by congress creating the electoral commission.
 It was to be composed of fifteen members—
 five senators and five representatives, to be selected by the respective branches, and five justices of the supreme court, four nominated in the act and the fifth to be selected by the four.
 The commission acted deliberately, and did not reach a vote on any of the cases until March 2—two days before the date of the inauguration. Governor Hayes left Columbus for Washington before the decision was announced. He heard enroute that the commission found he had a majority of the electoral votes, and wired back to his secretary his resignation as governor. Because of the tenaciousness of the situation, he took the oath of office as soon
 as he reached Washington, though it was again
 administered at the formal inauguration.

Plenty of action is promised in "The Conquering Horde," Paramount's Western picture which comes to the Palace Friday and Saturday.

Emerson Hough, who gave us "The Covered Wagon," is the author of the novel from which the picture is made. The story recounts the adventures of a young cowboy, a girl and a group of reckless riders as they drive hundreds of half-breed wild steers over a thousand miles of wilderness.

The constant threat of their unruly herd stampeding, the threat of war-like Comanches, and the menace of a band of ruffians who are determined to "get" the party, give suspense to the picture.

Richard Arlen and Fay Wray, co-stars of Zane Grey's "The Border Legion," again are seen in the leading roles. Claude Gillingwater, long a favorite character actor both on the stage and screen, has a comedy part as an old cowpuncher.

Frank Rice, Arthur Stone, George Mendoza, Charles Stevens, Ian MacLaren, Ed Brady and James Durkin are included in the big cast.

ASKS DATA ON CANAL HERE

Engineer Wants Estimate on Tonnage Available from City.

Data on tonnage that Marion might put into the proposed Sandusky-Portsmouth waterway was asked by a Columbus engineer last night sponsored by Mayor L. Don Jones at Hotel Harding.

The engineer, Harland G. Curtis, is urging all cities and towns along the proposed waterway to collect such data in order that it may be presented to federal engineers in Washington before July 1, when they will select one of the proposed routes for recommendation to Congress.

George Whysall, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce waterways committee, presided at the meeting. French Crow, a member of the committee, was designated to handle publicity for the meeting as well as for future developments.

Should engineers in Washington be shown that the Sandusky-Portsmouth route will handle more tonnage than that of the proposed Ashtabula-Pittsburgh route, it is likely the former will be recommended to Congress, it was said by Curtis.

Other routes, the Toledo-Cincinnati and Cleveland-Marion, have been practically abandoned, leaving only the Sandusky-Portsmouth and Ashtabula-Pittsburgh routes for consideration by federal engineers.

Should the Sandusky-Portsmouth route be recommended to Congress for the appropriation needed to make it navigable to canal barges, the route would pass through Marion county about five miles west of Marion, where a 10-mile canal would be built to connect the Sandusky and Scioto rivers.

defendant's support and that he spent most of his life with relatives. Tom Ralls, Blanton's uncle, told the jury that Blanton was abandoned by his mother and neglected by his father. They were defense witnesses.

A. B. Bradstock, shorthand reporter, was called as the first adverse witness yesterday and read the entire transcript of the state-ments made by the defendant on the day of his questioning. Upon cross examination Bradstock was questioned if any statement of Deputy Arthur Stuckert had been included in the transcript to which Bradstock replied "If Stuckert had addressed the prisoner, I would have taken it down." He was questioned if there had been threatening gestures made at Blanton while the statement was being taken. Bradstock said he "did not see any."

Chief of Police Philip Trautman, witness when the statement was being taken from Blanton, identified the signature of the prisoner and of the other witnesses.

Attorneys' Claim. Arthur Stuckert, one of the state's star witnesses, took the stand next, repeating his story of last week of the events of the day and evening of Jan. 23. He testified that Blanton had denied after his arrest, any participation in the stolen goods.

Opposing counsel claimed for the first time during the cross examination of Stuckert when defense attorneys attempted to show, by measurements of the one story room over which the windows are located in the Elijah Ralls home where Stuckert claimed to have seen the negroes' faces by the light of his flash light, that it was impossible to stand where Stuckert stood and see the windows. Sears objected to having the witness questioned about measurements of the room after Stuckert had replied that "I am not an architect. I do not know the measurements of the room and do not take an architect to estimate the size of a room, does it?" questioned witness, to which Sears objected.

Stuckert admitted upon cross questioning that it was necessary to strike Blanton twice on the legs and once on the head with his blackjack before he would arise from the bed when he attempted to make his escape following the shooting of Davenport.

The three doctors who administered medical aid to the wounded sheriff, Dr. Brandt, Dr. W. G. Carls and Dr. R. J. Caton, were the next witnesses.

New Light Will Be Visible Over Half of State

By The Associated Press. CLEVELAND, O., March 12.—Long distance fliers now can follow a piercing beacon light that spreads only 12 feet to a mile and is visible half way across the state of Ohio.

The light is projected from a searchlight only 10 inches in diameter and from a bulb only five or six times larger than the ordinary one you read by. It was demonstrated before the electrical league of Cleveland last night, by W. A. Pennow, airport and airway light engineer with the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company.

An aviator in Toledo, rising 5,000 or 6,000 feet on a clear night, can follow the beam all the way to Columbus, approximately 100 miles away, where four of the searchlight beams have been installed on the 555-foot American Insurance Union building, Pennow explained.

It projects the light sufficient for reading purposes five miles away, he said, and for example turned it on the "crib" five miles out in Lake Erie where the city obtains its water supply. The "crib" was distinctly visible.

The light's narrow beam makes the determination of the height of clouds more accurate and the searchlight is principally for that use, Pennow said.

WORK ON HOOVER DAM BEGINS TODAY

Actual Operations on Giant Engineering Project Under Way.

A great desert, once the Salton sea, was reclaimed near the delta of the Colorado. Now this is the Imperial Valley of California, from whose 2,000 square miles early fruits and vegetables speed by express to all parts of the United States.

But like a whimsical giant, the 1,700 mile river of sand and water continuously threatened to turn the rich valley back into a sea. More than seven million dollars have been spent on levees and flood protection. Each day the Colorado builds up its bed, high above the Imperial valley, depositing enough sediment each year to cover a hundred thousand acres a foot deep.

The flow of the Colorado at Yuma, Ariz., has reached 200,000 cubic feet per second, equivalent to that over Niagara Falls.

Imperial Valley leaders, faced continuously with annihilation by the flood menace, were joined by thirty, fast-growing southern California cities which sought the water for irrigation and domestic use.

Now diamond drills and explosives are ready to bite into the mile-high walls of boulder canyon.

White House through Senator Fess that the President attend the encampment and review the old soldiers while on his Ohio trip to dedicate the memorial, Cross said.

The President's secretary answered Fess by stating that the President would be happy to review and attend the encampment if any one of the three dates of the meeting coincided with the date finally agreed on for the dedication of the memorial, according to Cross. The date was given approximately 30 days ago, Cross said.

To Bring Vets Here. Either June 16 or 18 would be satisfactory for the review at Columbus, Cross said.

Should the President stop in Columbus, it is the plan to bring the convention to Marion en masse for the dedication of the memorial here. Approximately 3,000 persons are expected at the convention.

It is understood that an effort is being made to have the President dedicate Perkins observatory at Delaware, which houses the third largest reflecting telescope in the world.

The phone call from Frelinghuysen to Donithen last night followed earlier in the day in which it was agreed that June 16, a date tentatively suggested in Washington yesterday, would be acceptable. Calvin Coolidge also will attend the ceremonies, Donithen said.

ers were thrown out of work in the leading industries by machinery. The labor head proposed immediate inauguration of a five-day week in both public and private industry. He said congress would "fall in its duty" if it did not order such a program for federal employees at the next session.

He insisted upon some kind of "work security."

"If it is impossible to find steady employment," he said, "then some kind of readjustment should be made for saving work and purchasing power for the employees."

"We expect to press upon the next session of congress for the enactment of an injunction relief measure that will make labor free in America."

"We are sympathetically studying unemployment insurance."

"Last I want to tell you that our great organization is uncompromisingly opposed to recognition of Soviet Russia and we want our position on that definitely understood."

The progressives extended their thoughts today to the 1932 presidential race although they disclaimed any intent of organizing a third party.

His last two-day conference entered a proposal by Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska, their chairman, for establishment of a "conference of political independents."

Before adjournment tonight, the progressives will receive reports from special committees outlining future work.

Calling for new national policies conference speakers have centered attacks on the Hoover administration although the platform of Chairman Raskob, of the Democratic national committee drew fire from Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho.

Norris himself focused attention on the next Presidential race with expression of fear that the "power trust" was aiming at control of both national conventions and both presidential candidates.

Babe Succumbs in Arms of Penniless Mother

WHEELING, W. Va., March 12.—A cold wind howled through the West Virginia mountains, spraying the faces of Clem Gibbons and his wife, as they trudged, homeless and penniless, through two Ohio counties into Wheeling yesterday.

Mrs. Gibbons, near collapse, carried her sick baby. Once Mrs. Gibbons stopped to look at the child. It lay so still at her breast, she stopped again and her fears were confirmed. The babe was dead.

An undertaker's staff here contributed sufficient money for the pair to buy food and take the child back to Steubenville, O. There Coroner Arch Bell sent the little body to a mortuary.

LONG GRILLING FAILS TO DISCREDIT ALIBI

Former Beauty Prize Winner Maintains She Killed Husband in Self Defense.

NICE, France, March 12.—Long hours of questioning today failed to shake the story of Mrs. Fred G. Nixon-Nirdlinger that when she shot and killed her husband, the Philadelphia theatrical magnate, last night, she killed in self-defense.

She told police that after hours of nagging, jealous quarreling, her husband accused her of having an Italian lover. Then, just as his fingers clutched at her throat, leaving vivid red marks which were still visible today, she took a revolver she had hidden and shot four times, two bullets finding their mark.

While Mrs. Nixon-Nirdlinger was at the police station, other officers searched the apartment she occupied with her husband, scanning their correspondence and seeking some flaw in the story she tells. Their two children, aged three and eighteen months, were not awakened by the shooting.

"Do you regret your act?" the police asked her.

"If I hadn't killed him, then he would have killed me," she sobbed in answer.

Friends of Nixon-Nirdlinger and his wife said that he undoubtedly loved his wife very much but was most jealous. Yesterday morning he engaged detectives to trail her, explaining that he did not intend to use any information he might get against her, but simply wanted to know what she was doing.

Mrs. Nixon-Nirdlinger is the former Charlotte Isabel Nash, who won international recognition as a beauty in the Atlantic City publicity contest in 1923, entering as "Miss St. Louis."

Both branches were delayed for a time yesterday while the leaders and members sought to agree on a recess date. The 72-year-old commis. on chairman included this statement in a luncheon address before the Boston chamber of commerce.

AFRICA CROSSED BY MODERN RAILROAD

Latest Engineering Triumph Completes Conquering of Dark Continent.

By International News Service. LONDON — Darkest Africa has at last been conquered.

One of the most romantic engineering enterprises of modern times has been brought to a triumphant conclusion by the completion of the first transcontinental African railway from west to east.

This railroad joins Lobito Bay, in Angola, on the west coast, to Beira, on the east, by means of a steel highway 2,650 miles long.

It is now possible to travel from one side of Africa to the other without changing coaches.

Part of the line follows the old slave trading route, where once long convoys of chained natives marched towards the coast, spurred on by the whips of their Arab owners. Now ten most up-to-date trains thunder past at fifty miles an hour.

The railroad will mean a revolution in the lives of millions of Africa's inhabitants. It cuts across one of the richest mining and agricultural areas in the world.

No country in the world could have presented a more difficult problem to white man and his machinery. Thousands of miles of jungle, mighty rivers, great mountain ranges, and plains, severe climatic conditions and deadly diseases had to be conquered.

Hungarian Discovers New Printing Process

By International News Service. BUDAPEST — A new printing process, which is claimed to be a revolutionary step in the history of printing, has been invented by Herr Denis Uher, a young Hungarian printer. His discovery is a variation of photo engraving, using a machine which photographs the text as fast as it is typewritten on a long film ribbon.

The film is automatically developed in this machine and rolls on into another device, the principal feature of which is an elastic roller. The latter operated by hydraulic pressure prints the text fixed on the film ribbon on the paper.

Uher claims that printing produced by this method is much finer and clearer than can be achieved by lead or type metal work, and that his is a far cheaper system than any of the previous ones.
